DEDICATION

We, the Seniors of '55, dedicate this Annual to our sponsor, Mrs. Ina Mae Leakey, who for four wonderful years gave us the backing and support that it took to make our project drives a success. Thus we dedicate this year's Nu Lisannial to you, Mrs. Ina Mae Leakey.

"...Graduates:

Soon you will be entering into a new world with many local, state and national problems. There are many challenges, responsibilities, and opportunities for each of you. The advances made in this new world of yours will largely be determined by you.

Whatever your future activities might be--a farmer, a businessman, a housewife or professional worker--I hope that through your service you will bring honor to yourself, your school, and your community.

You have the tools for success. Keep them clean and sharp. Don't let them lie idle and rust away!

SCHOOL DAZE

(a play in four acts)

TIME: August 31, 1951 to May 12, 1955

PLACE: New Lisbon High School

SYNOPSIS:

ACT I. Twenty-three frightened young students entered the halls of New Lisbon. They successfully lived through their initiation and became full-fledged high school members. During their green years they learned many things. They worked their problems with ABC's (called Algebra), collected leaves and insects for biology and studied the ways of the upperclassmen. They also sold popcorn at the games toward the money for their Senior trip.

ACT II. Twenty-two members were left from their Freshman year. Now they knew their way around and made their grades with more ease. Their boys were on basketball, baseball, and track teams; others were in band and chorus. To add to the money for the trip they sold cokes, roses, and strawberries. They were very enthused over their field trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, to visit the Zoo, the Train Terminal, the Conservatory, and the Museum. To their delight they received their long-awaited class rings.

ACT III. Seventeen members still are walking through the familiar halls. By now they had more subjects from which to choose and many took typing and bookkeeping and advanced home ec. For the home ball games popcorn and cokes were sold by the members of the class not participating in the sport. They were busy too selling magazines and Christmas cards, and they sponsored a paper drive. They received their class sweaters of red with white letters and all members were pleased with them. They presented "Comin' Round the Mountain", a rip-roaring hill-billy comedy.

ACT IV. Thirteen members now make up the cast, soon to be joined by a new member from Lewisville, Charles Green. Their last year began with the initiation of the Freshmen. They had their senior pictures taken by William Keever of Farmland, and they began their annual. They sold candy and ice cream to swell the treasury. They gave their senior play, "He Was a Gay Senorita," in October. They lost a member of the class around Christmas time, Lila McCubbins, who quit school.

The long awaited trip came, and the Juniors and Mr. and Mrs. Hudleston accompanied the Seniors on their wonderful trip. Then came Baccalaureate and Class Day. As the curtain slowly comes together, we see thirteen members, the girls in white gowns; and the boys in blue gowns, slowly and carefully walking up the stairs to receive their diplomas. After being congratulated by Mr. Edington the curtain comes together and that ends the life of the senior class at the New Lisbon School.

Class Prophecy

In the spring of 1965 Mr. and Mrs. Leakey decided to take a trip, so they went to the airport to get their tickets. At the window they were told that their flight wouldn't be in for a while. Mr. and Mrs. Leakey went to the news stand and bought some papers and magazines to read. Mrs. Leakey opened the paper and whose name did she see? Carrol Hunt, one of the graduating Class of 1955; Carrol had just broken a record for shooting down six jets in one day. Some shooting!

At last the plane arrived and as they started to enter, Grace Davis met them at the door of the plane. Grace had just saved nine people in a plane crash a week ago. Mr. and Mrs. Leakey were seated and the pilot came back to assure the passengers of a smooth flight. The pilot was, of all people, Shirley Poore, another member of the Class of 1955. Someday Shirley hopes to have a plane of his own--when he saves enough money.

Everything went smoothly, so Mrs. Leakey settled back to read her magazine. On the cover it said "Mathematical Genius, Daniel Werking." That name rang a bell. Oh, yes, he was in the Class of 1955 too. The article told how Dan's new formula determined "how high is up and how far down is down." Dan is quoted as saying he owed it all to a teacher he once had in high school, Mr. Ray Pierce.

The Leakeys changed planes in Denver. After saying goodbye to Shirley and Grace, they went on a tour of the city. Soon they saw a big sign in the distance that said "The MMM Ranch, Marvin M. Matney owner." Marvin is another member of that great Class of 1955. He won the ranch on a quiz program, "Crack the Safe."

The next day they continued their travel by plane. They were seated by two gentlemanly looking sailors. Why, the two gobs were from Jintown, Bill Atkinson and Charles Green. These two boys, men now, have become very well known for their good deeds. Charlie has just designed an atomic powered battleship. He got interested in that line of work from his mechanical drawing class. Bill Atkinson just flew a new rocket to the moon and was the first person to set foot on the moon, claiming it as a possession of the U.S.

When the Leakeys arrived in Hollywood, they took a cab to the best hotel in the city. By this time night had fallen. As they finished their dinner in the hotel dining room, the floor show had just began. The master of ceremonies introduced the star of the show, "Mr. Robert Lee--not Brown, not Jones, but Smith, the world's greatest comedian." Mrs. Leakey remembered when Bob kept the kids laughing in class quite a bit. Now Bob really was doing what he liked to do best. After the show he came over and talked with Mr. and Mrs. Leakey. He said he had heard from some of the kids and Sue McKee (now Mrs. Jon De Vall) just a few weeks ago. Sue and her husband were prospectors for uranium in Canada where they had made a couple of finds.

Mr. and Mrs. Leakey then left California en route to Florida by plane. On arriving at Miami they took a taxi to the Ocean Shore Hotel. In the evening they went for a stroll and they shopped for a bathing suit, because Mrs. Leakey had failed to pack one. Before them was a sign "Anne's Swimming Suits." They entered the shop and Anne Wilkinson, another classmate of 1955, greeted them. Anne had won fame by designing a swim suit that made thin girls look like Marilyn Monroe and heavy girls look like Jane Russell. Mrs. Leakey got her suit and said goodbye to Anne. As soon as she left, Anne ran to the telephone and called Billy Joe Disbro and asked him to get in touch with Mrs. Leakey at her hotel. Billy Joe, is also from the Class of 1955, he is now the owner of a big television station in Miami.

They left Miami by boat via the Potomac River and Washington, D. C., where they toured the city. They noticed a lady who looked familiar. Surely enough, it was Linda Heiser, of the Class of 1955, who was now Senator Heiser from Indiana. She was trying to get a bill through to help the schools. Linda told Mrs. Leakey to go to the White House and ask for the veterinarian and she would be surprised to find out who he was. In a little while Mrs. Leakey found her way to the veterinarian's hospital where Bob Sebring was performing an operation on one of the President's favorite animals. Bob greeted her, and after the operation was finished, told her how he got the job. They chatted until it was time for the Leakeys to leave Washington. They said that they were pleased with their trip and the wonderful Class of 1955.

COMIN' ROUND THE MOUNTAIN

"Comin' Round the Mountain," a funny farce comedy of hillbilly life, was presented on April 21, 1954 by the Junior Class of New Lisbon High School. The Skitter family lived in the backwoods country, in the very heart of the mountains in the deep South. The play concerned the Skitters trying to marry their daughter, Corney Bell, off to Sammy Fester, a neighboring bachelor who has always been in love with her and has offered his prize winning "hawg," Pansy Sue, and twenty-five dollars in cash to boot for the dowry. Later a couple of men stopped to get water for their car. Corney Bell told her maw she would like to marry one of the strangers. While they are arranging two shot gun weddings, the city fellers' girl friends find them and then things begin to happen. All turns out well in the end after Curly meets his dream girl, Miss $1.98; Corney Bell snags Robert Bruce; and Ellie Lou Dufunny meets the young radio producer, Edward Small.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Commencement Exercises were held for the Class of 1955 Thursday, May 12, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Dr. Robert B. Pierce, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church of Indianapolis, was the speaker. His subject was "Bring Me a Dream." Music was furnished by the Dudley Township Band with a special number, "The Lord's Prayer," by Mr. Gohn. Mr. Edington presented diplomas to thirteen seniors. The Lions' Club award was given to Linda Heiser as the outstanding senior.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICES

Baccalaureate Services were conducted Sunday evening, May 8, at the Christian Church by Rev. Harold Clark. Mr. Ray Pierce gave the invocation; and Phyllis Wright and Don Davis sang two numbers, "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You." Mrs. Clark played the prelude and the recessional.

PARTING ADVICE

Billy Atkinson----To all boys: Stay away from girls that think they know everything.

Grace Davis----The best way to stay out of trouble is to tend to your own business.

Billy Disbro----To the Juniors: You had better buy new scenery for your play if you aim to put your names on the back, for there is little space left.

Linda Heiser----Try to be nice and courteous to the teachers and you will make it through.

Carrol Hunt----To Delmar Razor: Better take physics next year.

Marvin Matney----Don't play jokes on the coach if you like to play basketball.

Sue McKee----Once you have found someone, don't ever let him go.

Shirley Poore----Wait until you are a Senior to take geometry.

Bob Sebring----To the typing students: Don't buy a typing eraser right away. Maybe you'll have a neighbor who has one.

Bob Smith----Don't go hunting unless you have a very, very good reason for staying home from school.

Daniel Werking----To Deanna Hallgarth: Better keep Pete within reach.

Anne Wilkinson----Take Drivers Training if you want to get out of school for a period and go riding around in a new car.

Charles Green----Don't take chances on girls from other schools.

APPRECIATION
